New UTL E-Resources

House of Lords Parliamentary Papers 1800-1910 – The UK parliamentary papers database has been expanded to include the papers from the House of Lords from the National Library of Scotland. The collection and this module will be of interest to researchers of British history, British government, and political science.

ProQuest Congressional Collection – Primary source collection of original testimony with supporting correspondence, articles, and memos. Includes unpublished hearings and the ability to track testimony by witness affiliation over time. The Congressional Collection also includes bills and resolutions, house and senate documents, executive orders and presidential proclamations. Of interest to researchers of American history, political science, social science and law.

New in HeinOnline

The Canadian Bar Review has been added to HeinOnline. This important journal is compiled by the Canadian Bar Association; focuses on providing professionals with adequate, scholarly writing that promotes fair justice systems and equality, as well as the elimination of prejudice. The Canadian Bar Association advocates for the preservation of the independence of the court system and its lawyers.

In support of our hard-working law students racing against the clock, the Library will be open all night on Tuesday December 19, 2017.

The Bora Laskin Law Library closes for the holidays at 5:00pm on Wednesday, December 20, 2017 and reopens at 8:45am on Wednesday January 3, 2018

Cool New Resource!

Charterpedia provides legal information about the Charter and contains information about the purpose of each section of the Charter, the analysis or test developed through case law in respect of the section, and any particular considerations related to it. Each Charterpedia entry cites relevant case law, and citations to Supreme Court of Canada decisions are hyperlinked whenever possible. (Justice Department)
