04. Planning Ahead

01. Library Services

The Law Library, like the rest of the Law School and the University, remains closed until further notice. However, our librarians and staff are working remotely to provide you services even during the closure:

INFOEXPRESS

- Please continue to use InfoEXPRESS for document delivery requests. We can help you locate online versions of requested books, articles, cases and other materials. Unfortunately, we are unable to deliver library books, nor is Interlibrary Borrowing Services operating at this time.

REFERENCE SERVICE

- Reference librarians are monitoring the reference e-mail M-F, 9-5. Please email your question to law.ref@utoronto.ca.

02. Electronic Access

TEXTBOOKS & LOOSE-LEAF SERVICES

While not all legal treatises and loose-leaf services are available in electronic format, the University of Toronto subscribes to a robust collection of law-related eBooks and loose-leaf services. (U of T or individual login credentials required)

- Cambridge Core

04. Planning Ahead

2020 SUMMER RA INSTRUCTIONAL PROGRAM

Librarians are gearing up and preparing for the 2020 Summer RA Instructional Program. If the University closure is still in effect, we will deliver an online program:

- Virtual Orientation Session
- Online Sessions covering various research topics
- Live Training by various legal publishers
- Research Consultations

Please let us know if you are planning to hire a Research Assistant (including Casebook RAs) this summer, so that we have an idea of numbers. A message will be sent out to the Faculty Listserv also.

CONTINUITY PLANNING

The Centre for Teaching Support & Innovation has put together some great information:
