Spotlight on HeinOnline's
American Indian Law Collection

2021 Summer RA Instructional Program

- ▶ Launch date is Tuesday, May 11, 2021
- ▶ Research guides on a variety of legal topics will be posted on our website
- ▶ Remote vendor-led, advanced database instruction sessions will be offered
- ▶ Librarians will be on hand for consultations and assistance throughout the summer
- ▶ Detailed information to follow via email

If you have not already done so, please provide us with the names of your Research Assistants, and we will contact them directly. Also please feel free to refer RAs to us throughout the summer.

If we are physically back in the library at some point during the summer, we will make any modifications we can to further assist the RAs.

Temporary Library Closure

The Bora Laskin Law Library has remained open, and library staff have been on-site working hard to provide law faculty and students with study space, curbside pickup & delivery, and scanning services throughout most of the pandemic.

However, in response to the latest provincial order, the library closed its doors as of Friday, April 23, 2021. We hope to re-open as soon as it is safe to do so.

Please continue to send your requests to InfoEXPRESS. We will do our best to continue to support your research needs.

Curbside Pickup and Delivery Service is not available during this time.

Did you know?

HeinOnline's American Indian Law Collection was created from a desire to consolidate the wealth of material available on American Indian law, and to share the tremendous influence that Native Americans and their cultures have had on modern society. With more than 3,700 titles and nearly 1.5 million total pages, this library includes an expansive archive of materials related to American Indian law.

InfoEXPRESS Extra is a newsletter created to provide our Faculty with information about library news & services, resources, new acquisitions and more. If you have any questions, comments, or requests, please send them to law.infoexpress@utoronto.ca
